

Cockroach Preparation Sheet

Roaches entering your home is not always your fault and can happen in ways that you have little or no control over. Roaches can be introduced into your environment from grocery bags, used appliances, shipping materials, and neighbors. Or, they can simply come in from the exterior of the home. Roaches require three basic things to survive: food, water, and shelter. Once the presence of roaches has been identified, swift action is required to prevent the spread of this pest.

Please remember, depending on the severity of the roach infestation, you may notice continued, although reduced, activity for a period of several weeks. This is normal.

* Note: if residence is not properly prepared, treatment will be rescheduled to another day. Our treatment can only be as effective as you allow it to be.

Preparations Prior To Treatment:
